THAT CORNERSTONE UNLAYING CEREMONY that was held in Campbell was a successful event, even if 40 years of water in the casket had made the contents somewhat bedraggled-looking.

But like Bill Henley said at the program, none of us would be in very good shape after sitting in water for that length of time.

As a precautionary measure, a "dry run" was staged before the ceremony to see if the casket could be removed without too much effort.

It was fortunate that the "dry run" was staged, even if it turned into a wet run. It was then that it was discovered that water had seeped into the box.

This was disappointing to those of us who had a historical interest in learning about what was considered important 43 years ago in this community.

Surprising enough some of the items in the box were still readable. Even some of the water-soaked photos were recognizable according to those who were on hand at both the cornerstone laying and unlaying ceremony.

We will have to take their word for that.

For example, Charlie Rose had believed he had been in the fifth grade when the stone was put in place. But he claimed he appeared in the third grade photo that was in the box. Thus he cut two years off his age, just like that.

Nobody argued with Charlie on that score, for the condition of that class picture gave him plenty of latitude. That little guy could have been Charlie in that third grade photo. But it was hard to tell in comparison to the mayor's present-day appearance. The boy also had a full head of hair.

THE CAMPBELL PRESS seemed to have withstood 43 years of soaking exceptionally well. This speaks well for the quality of the paper over the years. Its texture anyway.

Many theories were advanced as to how the water got into the box in the first place. The area around the box was completely dry.

Some figured that a poor job of sealing was done and the moisture from the setting concrete worked into the casket.

But even with the dampened contents, the first cornerstone unlaying ceremony held in this community was a success.

And thus history was made.

Campbell school receives top P.E. rating in state

Campbell Union School District's "outstanding program of physical education and physical fitness" has been recognized by the selection of Campbell Elementary School (formerly Cherry Lane) as one of 22 junior and senior high schools in California (the only one in Santa Clara County) named a State Boys' and Girls' Physical Education Demonstration Center.

The selection was made by the California Committee on Fitness at the invitation of the President's Council on Physical Fitness.

Most of the 22 schools were chosen as demonstration centers for either boys' or girls' PE programs and facilities. Only Campbell Elementary School, Schurr Junior High in Montebello, Seaside High School in Monterey, Beverly Hills High School and Arroyo High in San Lorenzo were named demonstration centers for both boys' and girls' PE programs and facilities.

One of the purposes in this selection is "to offer visiting school officials and interested lay persons an opportunity to observe quality physical education programs and facilities in action." The centers also are expected "to assist and support the State Department of Education in strengthening school programs of health and physical education" and "to gain useful information for promoting physical fitness throughout the nation."

Certification of Campbell Elementary School as Physical Education Demonstration Center is for a three-year period, Jan. 1, 1965 to Jan. 1, 1968.

Campbell Water asks rate hike

Faced with an expansion problem which has resulted in more than $500,000 being expended in capital improvements in the last three years, the Campbell Water Co., this week applied to the Public Utilities Commission for an increase in basic water rates.

The request calls for a rate hike of approximately $7 per year for the average customer.

Homer Hyde, general manager of the water company, said that the increase would mean about a 60-cent monthly raise to the average customer who uses approximately 1600 cu. ft. of water each month.

Hyde said that this is only the third general rate increase that the company has requested in the 48 years it has been in existence. The first raise was granted in 1948 and the second in 1963.

The explosive growth of the area served by the water company which has forced an accelerated expansion

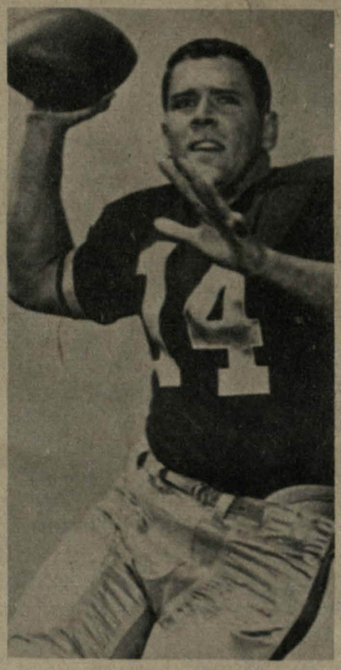
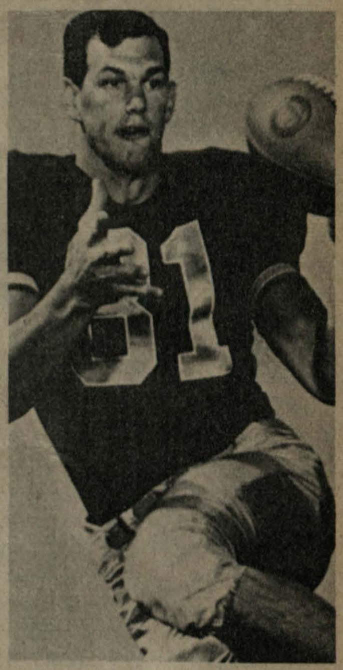
Old Settlers celebration

Morton-Schraub grid combine heads parade



CRAIG MORTON



JACK SCHRAUB

"The West's Campbell Kids", Craig Morton and Jack Schraub have accepted the invitation to serve as co-Grand Marshals of the 73rd annual Old Settlers' Celebration parade scheduled for Sunday, May 16 at 2 p.m., it was announced by the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the Celebration.

Morton and Schraub achieved fame during the East-West New Years Day football game when the passing-catching team brought home the final score. Morton is the first Campbell High School graduate to receive All-American football status.

Morton as a passer and Schraub as catcher, have worked as a team through Campbell Elementary school, Campbell High School, and finally with the University of California football squad.

Both young men have now signed contracts with the Dallas Cowboys, but will return to their home town to lead the big Sunday parade which will climax the Old Settlers' Celebration week, May 13-16.

Recently the teammates were honored by the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, the city of Campbell and the students and faculty members of the Campbell High School at a recognition dinner.

In serving as Grand Marshals of the parade, the football stars exemplify the "Today" part of the "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" Old Settlers Celebration theme.

Council-C. of C. clash in marathon session

A head on collision with Chamber of Commerce officials and where to locate traffic signals featured the City Council meeting Monday and were instrumental in prolonging the meeting until the wee hours of Tuesday morning.

It was 2 a.m. before the council members wearily folded their tents after a grueling session which was highlighted toward the close by a skirmish which almost flared into a ful-fledged battle royal with members of a newly-formed Chamber of Commerce committee.

The cause of the flare-up was a letter from the C. of C. explaining that a 16-member study committee had been organized, composed of business and industrial representatives. Richard Hardy had been named chairman and John Faber and Ted Regas assistant chairmen.

The asserted purpose of the committee, as outlined in the letter, was what caused the hackles of the councilmen to rise.

LETTER

The letter states: "The purpose of this study committee is to allow the business, professional, community leaders and other interested citizens, through the leadership of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce to be alerted WELL IN ADVANCE, for study and review, of proposals by the City Council and Planning Commission."...

The letter then listed five areas as examples for study, they included zoning, changes in ordinances. downtown identity, master plan, streets and future planning.

The letter, signed by Paul A. Landwehr, C. of C. manager, suggested that the desire was for a cooperative spirit to be developed.

While acknowledging that the council was appreciative of the interest in city affairs as shown by the C. of C. council members took exception to the tone of the letter which, as Councilman Ed Rogers pointed out, demanded that the council share the responsibility of city government with the C. of C. This was contrary to the basic government principles he said.

"The doors are always open at council meetings" Rogers meetings" Rogers added, "Every citizen, whether a member of the garden club or the

Editorial

An expensive "NO"

Nothing much can ever be gained by attempting to analyze election results. But we all continue to do it in a sort of what-might-have-been-way. So here we go again.

The election on April 20 is a case in point.

By far the most interest in the election concerned the fate of the proposed $17.8 million bond issue for the West Valley Junior College District.

For the second time in a little more than a year a bond issue failed to get the necessary two-thirds majority.

But in both instances a majority gave approval to the bonds.

The most telling blows against the bond issue came from the Saratoga area where more than a two-to-one vote against the bonds was cast.

Those who voted against the bonds were voting primarily against the location of a junior college in the Saratoga area.

Opponents of the bonds during the campaign indicated that they did not want the sacred hills of Saratoga sullied by a junior college.

We have stated many times that we fail to see where an attractive college would do anything but improve an area. We also maintain that 10 years from now when the college is functioning in the Saratoga area that the citizens of that community will brag about the addition to the cultural life of the area.

But that is 10 years away. And the election was last week.

Opponents claimed also that the Saratoga campus was not near the center of the population of the district. This we thought was a ridiculous point to make in this mobile age. Students drive to school. This is evidenced by the huge parking lots that are needed to store the cars at the temporary Campbell campus.

The distance to Saratoga is so minor that it makes that argument about location ridiculous to the extreme. It takes about five minutes longer to go to the college in Saratoga than to Campbell.

We would have liked nothing better than to have seen the college make its permanent home in Campbell. We believe it would be beneficial to all concerned.

But picking the Saratoga site was strictly one of economics.

It is ironic in face of the "untouchable" Saratoga attitude but a suitable site for the college in the Campbell area would have cost more than $1.5 million more than the Saratoga location.

That was the biggest reason we conceded that the site in Saratoga was the logical choice. As a taxpayer in the district, we felt it would be poor economy to spend that kind of money just to locate in Campbell.

That would be unfair to the taxpayers.

And by the same token we maintain that those who voted against the bond issue were being unfair to the taxpayers also.

Those negative votes are going to cost us a lot of dough, personally, and we are never enthusiastic about such things.

We expect that the trustees of the junior college district will now increase the basic tax rate at least 20 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

We do not think there is any other alternative.

In our opinion bond issues are the only fair means to finance large capital expenditures. It spreads the financial load of the taxpayer over a period of years rather than socking the individual right now.

And this is the way it should be. The college is going to be used for years and years. So why should we be forced to pay an excessive amount of taxes now so that people 20 years from now will benefit.

In our opinion, the bond issue campaign got away out of focus and the voters were subjected to tons of propaganda that actually had no bearing on the situation.

The question of finances, which should have been the issue, was lost in a fog of innuendos about extravagence and monuments and other charges that had no basis.

The entire issue became clouded, simply because a comparitivelv small segment of the residents in the district did not want (at least they think they don't now) a junior college campus in their area.

If one views the results in the cold light of simple arithmetic and as to how it will affect the taxpayer's pocketbook, one can get pretty well shaken up.

To summarize, we feel that the real issue was clouded.

And unfortunately because of the smog, it is going to cost all of us a lot more dough. It was an expensive NO.

bell High trustee, polled more than 9000 votes to lead the field in the trustee election, more than the total of votes he received in all previous elections. Vern Rutlen in second place received 8340 votes.

And third place in the eight-sided race went to Mrs. Dorothy Goble with 5129 votes to become the first woman to ever serve on the local high school board.

Of course the interest in the junior college bond issue was the main reason for the huge turnout. The contrast from the usual routine school trustee election was illustrated by a remark made by Doc Arends, who has served on the high school board for 13 years.

Doc recalled that when he was elected in 1952 he received 250 votes. Quite a difference.

LAST WEEK'S COLUMN referred to Bill Means, well known local druggist, and his experience in changing tires on his car for the first time.

Fortunately, as we pointed out, he had watched us do the job with the horrible bumper jack just a few days prior to the time he had a flat on a brand new tire on a snow-covered road miles from nowhere.

He recalled everything we had shown him and placed the jack under the rear bumper. The only trouble was that his flat was on the front. But he was able to adapt himself to the change without too much effort.

We are repeating this because somehow a couple of words dropped out of last week's column explaining that Bill hadn't had the pleasure of ever changing a tire until he had assisted us.

Without those drop-outs our report was as flat as that tire of Bill's.

Easter Seal demonstration

Deadline for applications to attend the Easter Seal Camp for crippled children and adults is May 15, it was announced today by Mrs. Esther Pinkston, camp director for the Santa Clara County Crippled Children's Society.

Mrs. Pinkston stressed that no handicapped child in the county would be turned down for lack of funds. Cost is $65 for two-week sessions, but free or partial camperships are provided for those who cannot afford the fee.

She asked that anyone who has not received an application to call the society office at the society office at CY 4-1178 in San Jose.

The sessions for the camp in Stevens Creek Park are: June 20-July 2 for neurologically handicapped; July 4-16 for adult handicapped and adult blind; July 18-30 for mixed ages; Aug. 1-13 for teenagers; Aug. 15-27 for crippled children 7 to 12 years old.

Chamber of Commerce, has a right to attend and be heard. We cannot show favoritism to any single group."

Other council members indicated that the request of "to be alerted well in advance" was an impossible and unfair demand. City Attorney Joseph Bonacina also explained that the council could not legally become involved in programs in advance of any action taken.

Hardy, supported by Landwehr and Ted Regas, emphasized that the committee's intent was strictly for cooperation and not to dictate policies.

The discussion became heated when Landwehr, in turn, took exception to implications involved when Rogers pointed out that the city allocated $9000 annually to help operate the C. of C. The city, in turn, expected that the chamber would support all projects for the betterment of Campbell.

No action was taken by the council on the letter.

SIGNALS

In the matter of traffic signals, a lengthy discussion developed over the report presented by William Wren, public works director. He recommended that the signals that are to be removed from the Campbell and Winchester intersection when the new signals are completed should be installed at Union and Campbell Ave.

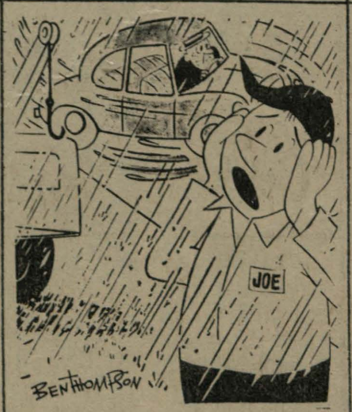
Wren explained that three intersections had been surveyed, Winchester - Rincon, Winchester - Budd and Union - Campbell.

A count showed that Union-Campbell had the most traffic and, in addition, the signals that were to be removed were not the proper type for Rincon-Winchester. A progressive signal system was needed there, he added, coordinated with Campbell-Winchester. Otherwise there would be a danger of traffic backing up past that intersection, because of short distance involved.

Mrs. Connie Regas, local real estate agent and owner of commercial buildings on Rincon just off Winchester, pleaded for signals at Winchester and Rincon. She presented a petition signed by 107 people asking that signals be installed there.

She was supported in her plea by Ted Regas, her husband, in his capacity of chairman of the C. of C's highway relations committee, and by Richard Mayne, former councilman, who claimed that the residents of his part of town used Rincon a great deal and felt that signals were necessary.

After a lengthy discussion on the matter, the council directed the staff to come up with cost figures for the proper signalization for all the intersections involved so that funds could be allocated in next year's budget.



"I'd better get the tow hook ready. Here comes a slippery weather customer!"

City Hall briefs

Pushing and tugging on many fronts featured one of the longest Campbell City Council meetings on record Monday night.

The agenda included zoning matters, appeals from the Planning Commission, new ordinances and a number of other items, both of major and minor importance.

In the six-hour session, lasting until 2 a.m., the Council:

--OVERRULED a Planning Commission decision and granted Fred Schallich a variance for his proposed 8000 square foot liquor store at San Tomas and Campbell. The variance allowed 25 parking spaces. Former mayor John M. Chargin represented Schallich. The Planning Commission had stalemated in trying to find the proper solution.

--HEARD a report on the treasurers' convention by City Treasurers' convention by City Treasurer Velma Olds. The report included a request for a raise in salary for the elected treasurer from $75 to $100 per month.

--GAVE FIRST READING to an ordinance prohibiting the conversion of any residence into an office on a divided 3-2 vote. Long pending before the council, the original alignment of Rose, Rogers and McElroy against Doetsch and Smeed remained steadfast.

--UNVEILED two concepts of plans for the downtown area and referred them to the redevelopment committee of property owners for study.

--HOPEFULLY suggested that there should be a budget allocation next year for the repaving of Campbell from Winchester to the railroad which could cost about $50,000. It was indicated that recapping the street ($10,000) would hardly be worth the chips.

--AGREED to put in water pipes now to prepare for future landscaping of the center strip in the extension of Hamilton Ave.

--PASSED an ordinance specifying the uses in the C-H (highway commercial) zone.

--REZONED a five-acre parcel near Union and McGlincey in an involved series of actions that involved an appeal from a Planning Commission ruling by Forman Development Co.,

--APPROVED a raise in rates for the Yellow Cab company operating within the city limits The cab company will now charge 10-cents for every 1/5 mile after the first 1/4 mile, add 50-cents for initial flag stop and $5 per hour for waiting time instead of $4.

--TOOK NO ACTION on pending state legislation affecting a proposed telephone franchise tax.

--APPROVED zone change for Leonard Pritchard at 1800 Hacienda, who wants to add to apartments built under R-D (planned development) zone.

of the company's physical plant was cited by Hyde as the basic reason for requesting a rate increase.

Hyde said that $150,000 was expended in 1963 for capital improvements and $140,000 was spent last year. It is estimated that the expansion will reach $250,000 during the current year.

The increase will not take effect until the Public Utilities Commission has held a public hearing and conducted its own investigation on the request.

If approved, the new rate will not take effect until 1966.

Even after the rate increase is granted, Hyde points out, the local water company's basic rate will be below the average of the other water companies in the county.

THANK YOU NOTE

Dear George:

For the past two years, I have received the Campbell Press, thanks to you and Joe Anello, I wish to take this opportunity to extend my thanks and appreciation.

Being stationed in Louisiana for 22 months it was rather hard hearing what was going on at home. By that I mean that the news media in Louisiana is very limited in its scope.

The Press has kept me informed about all the important happenings in Campbell and, because of it, I didn't feel as far away from home as I was. I will be discharged on 21 April and effective 1 May 1965. I will return to work as police officer for the city of Campbell. Once more, thank you and keep the presses rolling.

Sincerely yours,

LEGION BASEBALL

Dear George:

In reading your column, Out on the Limb, it became of great interest to me when I came upon the section regarding the appeal of the West Valley Post of the American Legion for "young blood" to help shoulder the load. Your article went on and cited an example of the Post exploring the possibility of sponsoring an American Legion Baseball team, but rejected the idea because "they felt that the responsibility was just too heavy for the present membership".

I have a few comments to make regarding this. Not comments but facts. I have been active in keeping together the legion team in this area for the past few years. But believe it or not, the Legion teams in the past which were composed of Campbell, Del Mar & Saratoga High School boys were sponsored by a Santa Clara Post. This year, however, the Santa Clara Post decided that if they sponsored a team it would have to be made up of Santa Clara boys. This I agree with wholeheartedly, I would not like to see a Post in this area sponsoring boys from other cities. Upon receiving this news and knowing that many West Valley boys were eagerly looking forward to playing Legion ball again this summer I approached the West Valley Post, requested and was granted a meeting with their Board of Directors. The meeting took place, I presented the program to them, explained the plan thoroughly and thought it was well accepted. The members told me they would talk it over and give me a decision in a few days. They phoned me a few days later and informed me that the board had rejected it. Their reason "The insurance on the boys was not ample and if any boy was injured their Post would be liable for suit." By this time I did not feel like again going over and explaining that all Legion teams are covered by a national insurance policy.

In your column it stated the rejection was because "the responsibility being too heavy for the present membership". I would like to clear that up as I thought I did at the Board meeting. At the meeting that evening I brought a Campbell gentleman, a World War II vet who was willing to join their Post and who would act as manager of the team, this man incidentally has been active in youth baseball for many years. I also had two college boys majoring in Physical Education who wanted to act as coaches. These two boys had played legion ball in the past. We had the uniforms and some equipment. We asked the Post for a donation of $250 to help defray expenses and the sponsorship of the team. They were told the only thing we would like to see them do besides this was to come out to the ball games and root for their Post.

This was a ready made project for them that required no man hours on their part and it would place their Post in the public eye with no responsibility for them to shoulder, physically or mentally.

In closing I certainly believe that if the West Valley Post first starts taking an active part in community affairs it will stimulate interest and without a doubt start injecting some new blood into their organization.

Sincerely,
Bob Burton

Business people visit schools

Education Business Day of the Campbell Union School District, the annual opportunity for educators to play host to Chamber of Commerce members and other area business and professional men and public officials, takes place today.

It started as usual with coffee and doughnuts at the district administration building and then the visitors were escorted to visit classrooms all over the district.

But a change in the usual format came at lunchtime. This year a demonstration of the Campbell Union School District physical education program, followed lunch at Parkway School.

To show how the district helps children study more effectively by housing growing minds in strong bodies, guests were entertained by a boy and girl from each grade, kindergarten through sixth, tumbling under direction of Bob Bricker, fifth and sixth grade classroom teacher at Parkway.

Two seventh grade boys from Cypress, Larry Ellingson and Terry Bonglovani, came over to Parkway to demonstrate tumbling under direction of Jerry Crandall, upper grade boys' physical education instructor.

An eighth grade girl from Rolling Hills, Kathy Boyd, performed on the balance beam, and gave a floor exercise demonstration directed by Thursa Greer, girls' PE instructor at Rolling Hills.

Another innovation this year was an arrangement to send some guests to visit Campbell, Camden, Del Mar and Westmont High Schools, through cooperation of Campbell Union High School District Superintendent Larry Hill.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

Some time early in June the Democratic leadership of the House of Representatives will come face to face with one of those "darned if you do and darned if you don't" decisions. On a resolution designed to unseat Mississippi's five Congressmen. Speaker McCormack and Majority Leader Albert must side with or against liberals in their own party who say Mississippi elections are unconstitutional and its five Congressmen should be unseated. To support the liberals they must repudiate their own arguments made as recently as January 19.

At the last election, Richard L. Ottinger (D-NY) won election when, by his own admission, his family spent $167,000 ($5,000 is the (legal limit). The defeated candidate's campaign manager, following the instructions of Section 201, Title 2, Chap. 7 of the U. S. Code, served notice that he was contesting Ottinger's election because he had violated federal election laws. This section reads in part: "Whenever any person intends to contest an election...he shall, within thirty days... give notice...of his intention to contest..".

When Congressman James C. Cleveland (R-NH) tried to prevent Ottinger from being seated, Majority Leader Carl Albert argued eloquently against him. On Jan. 19 Albert contended that Section 201 meant that only a candidate, not any person, had the right to contest an election. He said, "Congress never intended to give unqualified authority, pell-mell...to individuals...to contest any Member's seat, for good reason or otherwise." On a straight party line vote, the House agreed and dismissed the contest against Ottinger on grounds that the man who had filed the Notice of Contest was not a candidate.

In June a contest of the election of the five Mississippi Congressmen will probably come before the House. It was not filed by a candidate in either the Mississippi Primary or General Elections. Nevertheless, a large percentage of Democratic House Liberals, who voted to dismiss the Ottinger contest on grounds that the Notice was not filed by a candidate, will almost certainly reverse themselves and use the same section of the law as justification for voting against the Mississippi delegation. It will be interesting to observe whether the Democratic leadership follows the line it spoke on January 19 or takes a new tack.

There isn't much doubt that the right to vote is restricted in Mississippi and other Southern States in defiance of the Fifteenth Amendment. And it may well be that federal law is needed to prevent this illegal restriction. But if we are to call our system a government of law instead of chaos, the way to achieve sensible change is through orderly process. If Mississippi law is wrong then an appeal to the Courts should be made for invalidation of that law. This is being done in the case of U. S. vs. Mississippi now under adjudication.

Country Woman's Club takes stand on indecent literature

The Country Woman's Club of Campbell joined with other women's clubs in the state in condemning the sale of indecent literature at the recent convention of the Loma Prieta District of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, held at the Cabana Hotel in Palo Alto.

Members from Campbell who attended the convention were Mrs. Courtland Watson, Mrs. Wyland Morgan, Marsha Myers, Naomi Hardison, Dorothy Fritsch, Millie Jurras and Mary Finnigan.

A resolution adopted by the convention reads as follows: "inasmuch as so many indecent books of a pornographic nature are being sold in our local stores, and inasmuch as children and teen-agers have free access to these books and magazines which we believe to be a contributing factor to our juvenile delinquency problem, we of the Loma Prieta District, California Federation of Women's Clubs, in convention assembled April 20, so resolve to refuse to purchase any saleable article held in such stores who continue to display or sell such indecent literature."

AWARDS GIVEN

At this same convention, the Country Woman's Club was presented certificates of award in the fields of scholarship, responsible citizenship, crafts, legislation and government, art, and a plaque for California History for its efforts in regards to the Campbell Museum.

Another honor for the club was received by its artist member, Mrs. Judy Howland, whose picture took first place in the water color division. This painting will be taken to the State convention in Los Angeles where it will compete with others for the State award.

BALLET TEACHER --Katherine Bartholomew, former member of the Marin Civic Ballet Company and student of George Balanchine of the world famous New York City Ballet School, has opened the Katherine Bartholomew School of Ballet in Campbell.

Ballet teacher envisions Civic Ballet Company here

A studio devoted to the teaching of classical ballet has recently moved into its permanent quarters at the corner of Campbell and Harrison Avenues in Campbell. The ballet school established in 1962 by Carol Dampier in Saratoga, changed hands the following year and became the Katherine Bartholomew School of Ballet. Mrs. Bartholomew moved from the original Saratoga location to 415 E. Campbell Avenue in January of this year.

Mrs. Bartholomew believes that there is no better way to prepare a young dancer for the professional stage than to become an active member of a civic ballet group, an idea upheld by her mentor, Mrs. Leona Norman. She hopes that one day Santa Clara County will have it's own Civic Ballet Co., so that all the artistic talent will not be drawn away to San Francisco but stay here and give the county some of the aesthetic beauty of ballet.

Mrs. Bartholomew prepared for her professional career by performing many years with the Marin Civic Ballet, under the direction of Leona Norman, and the Bay Area Ballet Company. The Marin Civic Ballet awarded Mrs. Bartholomew a scholarship for studies with the famous New York City Ballet School under the direction of George Balanchine. She performed for two seasons with New York's American Ballet Theater Company and studied with choreographer Robert Jeoffry. She has appeared with Marin Civic Ballet on television and on the Bell Telephone Hour with the American Ballet Theater Company.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

BY
Gladstone A. Boquist

Q. I'm over 65, but still working. I earn over $450 a month and I work every month. There's no reason for me to put in a social security claim until I retire or partly retire, is there?

A. Yes--and for two reasons. It's true we can't pay you anything right now because of your high earnings and regular work. However, if you apply now, we'll be ready with a check for you if you're sick and don't have any earnings in some month in the future. Also, your payments will be computed and set up for the time when you are ready to retire. When that happens, we can start your retirement checks a lot faster than if you wait until that time to claim them.

Q. Is work on a farm covered by social security?

A. Yes, provided the worker is paid $150 or more in a calendar year, or works on 20 or more days on a time basis (hour, day, week, month, etc.) during the year, regardless of actual wages.

Q. Who is responsible for paying the social security tax on farm workers?

A. The employer is always responsible for reporting social security wages. He is responsible for deducting your portion of the social security tax from your wages and matching that amount from his own funds.

Q. How can I check on my social security account?

A. Ask for a special postcard form at your nearest Social Security Office. It is Form 7004 (Request for Statement of Earnings). If the report sent you from the Social Security Administration headquarters does not agree with your own records, get in touch with the nearest Social Security Office to correct any error.

Campbell winners were Maria Bryand, Kristie Dowling and Sheryl Howell.

The Camden winners are Andrea Kay Gibson, 868 Sweetbriar Dr., Campbell; Eleanor May Myers, 14272 Brecaw Lane, San Jose; and Lynda Evelyn Schmitz, 4357 Esther Dr., San Jose.

Winners were chosen on the basis of essays submitted by senior girls at each school on "Why I choose cosmetology as my profession".

The winners will be given full scholarships at the Campbell Beauty College valued at $426 each.

LYNDA SCHMITZ

I CHOOSE COSMETOLOGY BECAUSE--

I choose Cosmetology as my profession because I'd like to work in this field.

I think there are many opportunities open in this field. I'd enjoy being a beautician but I could also go into beauty counselling or become a beauty advisor or a beauty consultant after my training.

I do enjoy working with hair, nails, and giving facials. I would learn techniques in hairsetting, hairstyling, and make-up. I would learn how to do these things, plus more, properly. If I chose, I could specialize in one field.

I'd enjoy being a beautician because I like to meet people. I have talked to a few instructors at different beauty colleges in San Jose and I have found the schooling very interesting, therefore, I think, I would get a lot out of it because of my interest.

If I were to get married and quit working, after my training, I would always have something to fall back on. I could take a part time job also.

I would appreciate it if I was one out of the three to receive a scholarship. I don't think my parents are financially secure to send me to college at the present time.

I'd like to help myself, as well as others, to look well groomed.

Lynda Schmitz

ELEANOR MYERS

I CHOSE COSMETOLOGY BECAUSE--

The main reason I chose cosmetology is because I enjoy that line of work. I love to do creative things, and what could be more creative.

As an art major in high school, I feel cosmetology is an art. It's an intriguing field that needs fresh, new, creative ideas. This inspires me all the more.

A large part of cosmetology is people. I like people and being around people is important to me. A field without people, or no people contact, seems dull and colorless. I enjoy a feeling of accomplishment when I do something for someone else. Nothing could be more rewarding to me than to be able to satisfy women day to day, as I could by being a beautician.

Cosmetology is a stable occupation, it's something I know I can do for the rest of my life. Beauticians are always in demand because women always want to look their best.

Yet it never becomes the same old thing. It's always changing, as styles change.

In life, I feel it is important to do something you want to do, something you like to do. Then work is enjoyable, which makes life more enjoyable. If you do something you don't like as an occupation, you dread working, work becomes toil, then life becomes dull.

The most important reason I chose cosmetology is because I want to do this. I've thought long and hard about what I want to spend the rest of my life doing, and I strongly want to be a beautician. It is an artistic, creative, people-filled occupation, and that is what I want.

ANDREA GIBSON

I CHOOSE COSMETOLOGY AS MY PROFESSION BECAUSE--

Cosmetology is a very great field and it has been my life long ambition for as long as I can remember.

My desire to reach this goal may have started growing within me years ago. When I was very small I was contented to sit for hour upon hour combing my dolly's hair. This would be an every day procedure until the poor doll was bald. It has grown to the point now, where I am more than willing and very anxious to complete this desire.

I enjoy making people happy for it gives me a feeling of great joy. When a lady has her hair and nails looking nice she is usually happy, and it gives me the feeling of this great joy to know that today I have made someone happy.

Several of my friends and relatives have made cosmetology their profession and they enjoy it very much.

Cosmetology would be an aid to me now as well as in the future years. It would aid me in looking my best and also be used as a supplement to income. It is always something that you can fall back on after raising a family. It can also become a very enjoyable past time.

Being able to work with hair makes my system bubble over with thoughts of creation, style, and enjoyment.

Like the little boy who wants his life's profession as a fireman, I would like to make my life's profession in the field of Cosmetology.

Planners okay new buildings okay zoning

Two applications for buildings received the approval of the Planning Commission at the last meeting.

Getting the commission's okay were James Daly for two commercial buildings on Winchester Blvd. at Latimer and County Sheet Metal for a warehouse at 150 N. Harrison.

Approval was also given for a neon sign for the new bottle shop-delicatessen in Kirkwood Plaza.

Two zone changes also got the commission's approval. Darrel Coleman had asked for a change from R-D to R-3-S on property located on the south east corner of Budd and San Tomas Expressway and Jack Craig asked for a change from CM:B-80 to CM:B-20. Both got the okay.

The commissioners also reviewed a study of the downtown area presented by Richard Hogan, planning director. The study showed that lots in the downtown area would be 100-feet in depth along Campbell Ave., excluding areas being purchased by the city. Off-street parking would extend from the centerline of Campbell Ave. north and south for 300 feet.

Del Mar Sports

by Tom Jacob

The big news in Del Mar sports during past weeks was the Dons' swimming victory in the 3rd annual Del Mar the third annual Del Mar Relays. The meet was held at Del Mar on Saturday, April 17, and all of the WVAL teams competed.

Once again it was freshman Glenn Schanck and Dave Shilling, junior Stan Poytress, and senior Todd Hayes that lead the way as they combined to set a league record in the 200 yard medley relay. They joined Bob Armstrong, Gary Weber, Dave D'Arcey, Rich Jones, and Scott Gritton to chalk up two other records in the 200 yard breast-stroke-butterfly relay and the 400 year individual medley relay.

The baseball team defeated Blackford on April 20, behind the one-hit pitching of Guy Martin and the slugging of Rhett Thompson, both seniors. The final score was 2-0, with Thompson providing the margin of victory with a home run.

The victory, combined with a Campbell loss, put the Dons in second place, just a half game behind Leigh. They then journeyed to Leigh on April 22, but came back with a 5-2 loss, and probably lost any chance for a championship.

Sports in the coming week feature the WVAL swimming finals on Saturday, May 1. The track team hosts Westmont on April 30, and the baseball team hosts Camden on April 29, and travels to Saratoga on May 4.

SGT. WILLIAM ANDERSON, Airman Artist

Campbell airman shines as portrait painter at base

Travis AFB, Calif. (WIO) - "I paint only women," said Sgt. William Andy Anderson, 32, a bomb-navigations system technician with the 5th Bomb Wing's 5th Armament and Electronics Maintenance Squadron.

Sergeant Anderson has been a painter "all my life," he reports. His special interest is portraits. About 19 out of 20 of his portraits are women.

In six years with the 5th Bomb Wing, he has found about 300 interesting subjects, mostly wives of other 5th Bomb Wing people. Occasionally, he draws his wife, Verna, or one of his three children to practice or develop techniques.

For about 15 dollars you can commission him to do a portrait in pastel chalk on velvet paper. Working from photographs, it will take about eight hours. If you cannot provide your own photograph, he'll snap it for you. In oils, more time would be consumed and the price would be higher.

Before entering the Air Force in 1953, Sergeant Anderson majored in commercial art at San Jose State College, California. He earned the money for his college tuition by illustrating for local department stores.

Sergeant Anderson's portraits are life-like. They stare at the observer with eyes that seem to follow one's movements. The skin textures and shades seem alive.

In the past, he has worked on mat or illustration board. Now, however, he prefers the new velvet and suede papers. These papers give a softer look, usually better for portraits, he says. Occasionally for a smooth, sharp appearance, he may apply his chalk to large sheets of sandpaper.

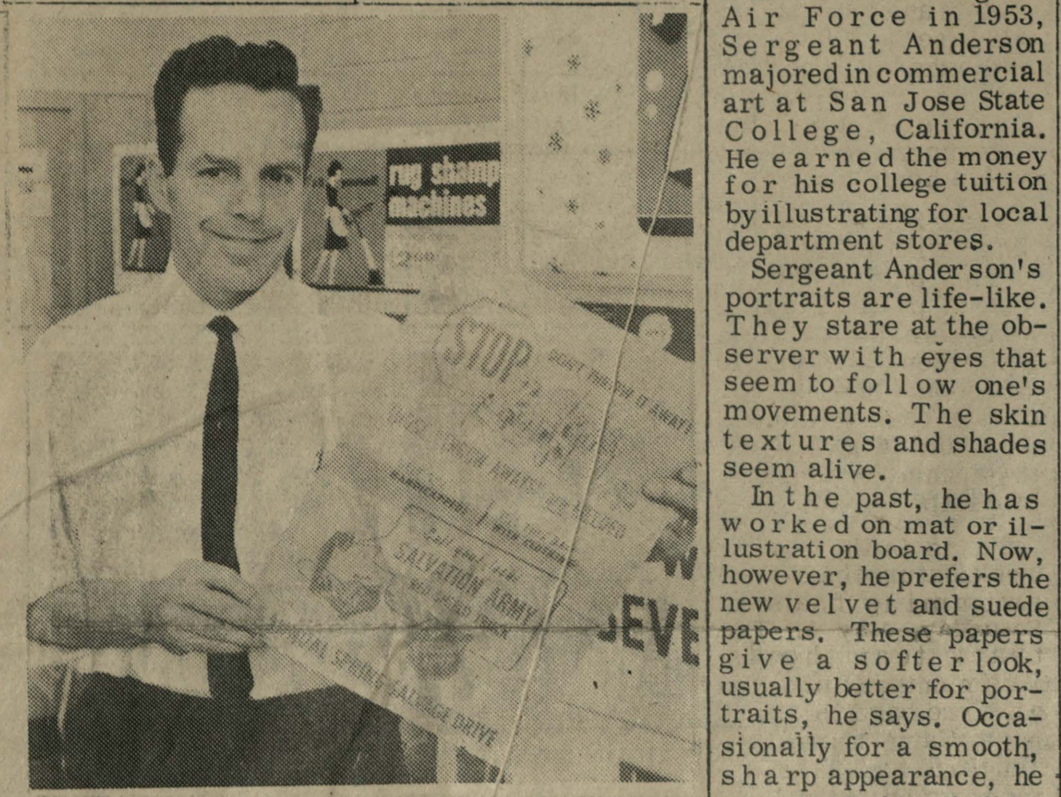
Enthusiastic about his work, Sergeant Anderson frequently plunges into a painting right after getting home. Often he does not spare the time to remove his uniform.

In addition to portrait painting, Sergeant Anderson has a rich life of other off-duty activities. For one, he has his own photographic darkroom. In photography, his principle medium is color slides.

Sergeant Anderson also studies electronics. Presently he is enrolled in an engineering course with the Capital Radio Engineering Institute.

Still another special interest is science fiction. Isaac Asimov, Fred Hoyle and Arthur C. Clark are his favorite authors.

A native of Campbell, California, where he was graduated from high school, he said he would like to settle in the Bay Area after his retirement. Specifically he has Saratoga in mind.



HELPING OUT-- Safeway stores in northern California are participating in the annual Salvation Army drive for clothing which got under way on Sunday. According to Captain Harland J. Hall, of the Salvation Army, three million grocery bags will carry the Salvation Army imprint on them. The bags can be filled by residents and the Salvation Army truck will call at the homes. The phone number is 294-6316. Bill Spann, manager of Safeway store at Winchester and Budd, is shown with one of the bags.

Outdoor cooking

Winchester Hardware, 2127 Winchester Blvd., will have a demonstration of outdoor cookery on Saturday from 9 until 5 p.m. The public is invited to drop by and see the original Charbroil and sample the tasty morsels that can be cooked on this outdoor barbecue.

Volunteers seek funds for HOPE

Members of the Auxiliary for the City of Hope, free and nonsectarian hospital and research center located near Los Angeles, are currently preparing 7,000 volunteer marchers for an extensive area-wide door-to-door fund campaign.

Mrs. Leonard Powell, co-director of the 1965 fund drive, says "Without the volunteer, the City of Hope could not exist today. Throughout the decades of service to humanity since its founding in 1913, the Pilot Medical Center has never billed a patient."

Mrs. Powell, who lives in the West Valley area at 5971 Walbrook Dr., is working with Mrs. Steve Judd of San Jose is coordinating the local fund drive. Chairman of the 1965 campaign is Mrs. Egon Upright of San Jose. A Campbell resident active with the auxiliary is Mrs. Edward Friedman, 1224 Bent Dr.

The volunteer marchers will call on area residents Tuesday, May 4, in cities throughout the Santa Clara Valley. Funds collected will help further the City of Hope's programs in patient care, research and education against the "killer diseases" - cancer, leukemia and heart, blood and chest maladies.

Chorus to present "Elijah"

The San Jose Municipal Chorus, under the direction of Reginald G. Greenbrook, will present Mendelssohn's "Elijah" on Sunday, May 2, at 3 p.m. in the Scottish Rite Temple, 3rd at St. James St., San Jose.

Patrons of the chorus are seated in a reserve section. Information regarding this section may be had by calling Mrs. Ruby Goodnight at chorus headquarters, 377-3843. Non-reserved seats are open to the public without charge on a first come first seated basis.

Soloists for "Elijah" will be: Eleanor Bailey, soprano; Marcia Hunt, contralto; Frederick Loadwick, tenor; and Edwin Dunning, baritone. Accompanists will be: Arpha MacIntyre, pianist, and Clifford Hansen, organist.

Art Festival

Moreland School District will hold a Creative Art Festival at Castro Junior High School cafetorium on Saturday, May 1, from 10 until 2 p.m.

In addition to a display of art from all the sixteen schools in the district there will be live performances from the Country Lane, Easterbrook, Bucknall and Latimer Schools with puppet shows, paper sculpture, and displays of woodworking and metal work from students at the junior high school. The public is invited.

2000 delegates attend meet

"The Moral Breakdown-What Can Be Done About It?" was the subject of the address given by F. F. Garrett, West Coast Witness director of Jehovah's Witnesses, when nearly 2000 delegates gathered for a convention last weekend at Santa Cruz.

The event was held at the Santa Cruz Civic Auditorium. The Campbell delegation was led by Salvatore Pavone, presiding minister, and included Don Meek, Roy Stephenson, and Sal Leonardi.

GIVEN AWARD-- Roger Ulrich, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Ulrich of 151 S. Jane Ann Way, is presented a certificate of merit from Chief of Police John Morgan for his heroic attempt to save the life of a neighbor who later died of an apparent heart attack. Ulrich, pictured here with his mother, gave artificial respiration to the victim until the resuscitation unit arrived. Chief Morgan also cited Officer Tom Clark for his efforts to save the victims life with heart massage.

ONION NECKLACE

Wearing an onion around the neck used to be fashionable—at least for cold sufferers. It's easy to see why this old-time cold remedy has now been discarded. We can't cure colds, yet, but we can relieve their discomforts . . . and avoid more serious complications by using the effective medications available today. But don't use any medicines indiscriminately. When you're ill, be sensible. Let your physician do the diagnosing and prescribing. Then, if he recommends medication, see us for quality prescriptions.
